

Thank You

You are the King of all kings, Master of the world.

Thank You for enabling me to stand here before You today, to thank You. No matter what I may say, it will never encompass all that I need to thank You for – for everything is from You! You gave me so much, with such kindness and compassion.

Thank You for everything that You created in this world.

Thank You for the countless times that you helped me, supported me, saved me, made me happy, cured me, protected me, encouraged me.

Thank You for always being there for me.

Thank You for giving me the strength to observe Your commandments, the strength to do good, and the strength to pray.

Thank You for all the times that You helped me, and I did not even know to thank You.

Thank You for the countless kindnesses You perform for me every single moment.

Thank You for every single breath that I take.

Thank You, G-d, even for those things that I lack.

Thank You for sometimes making things difficult for me, for I know it is all for my benefit.

And even if I may not see why something is good for me, deep in my heart I realize that everything that comes from You – is for my benefit. It was created especially for me, with full, accurate and perfect Divine Providence, such as only the King of all kings can bestow.

Thank You for sometimes making things difficult for me, for that is the only way that I can also appreciate all the good in my life! It is only through darkness that one can truly appreciate light!

Thank You for the wonderful life that You gave me.

Thank You even for the smallest thing that I have, for it is all from You and no one else.

Thank You for listening to my prayers.

Master of the world, from the depths of my heart, I ask for Your forgiveness if there were times that I may not have appreciated all that You gave me, and if instead of thanking You, I complained.

Please, continue to hold my hand always. I am nothing – and You are the Master of the entire world!
